

Life Sciences Logistics

Trusted expertise for the most vital shipments

Whether we're moving temperature-sensitive vaccines and medications, active pharmaceutical ingredients, raw materials, or life-saving medical devices, AIT understands every moment matters in life sciences logistics. That's why major biotech and pharmaceutical companies trust our subject matter experts to support the life cycle of nearly half of the top 20 biological drugs, from research and development as well as clinical trials through to commercialization.

Deep sector experience

- Temperature reporting and smart asset monitoring (humidity, falls, altitude and more)
- Quality management expertise
- Chain of custody management
- Electronic data integration

Cutting-edge cold-chain resources

- Phase-change materials
- Access to all types of active and passive packaging solutions from most manufacturers
- Temperature controlled vehicles
- Thermal blankets

Scalable, customizable global freight

- Ground, air, sea freight services
- Bonded and temperature-controlled in transit warehousing
- Expedited shipments
- Priority and next-flight-out options
- Full and partial charters
- Exclusive-use vehicles
- Full truckload shipments

Comprehensive security credentials

- International Air Transport Association certified
- U.S. Transportation Security Administration-certified cargo screening facilities
- Customs-Trade Partnership Against Terrorism member
- Hazmat certifications for all modes

Added value you'll only find with AIT

- Highly tailored solutions to meet the most complex logistics challenges
- Single point of contact, personalized customer care
- Global network of more than 110 facilities
- Concierge-level, white glove delivery options
- In-house, licensed customs brokerage
- Strict, global quality assurance program, processes
- Visualizations and business intelligence capabilities